Call for Papers

Survey of Health, Ageing
and Retirement in Europe

The Austrian Ministry of Science is organizing a joint conference of Austrian ESFRI projects of human and social sciences to be held on October 24th, 2013, in Vienna. In parallel sessions scientists, students and data-users of these European ESFRI projects are able to present and discuss their findings in front of an Austrian and international audience of key scientists and political decision makers.

Scientists, students, and all other SHARE data users are herewith invited to submit their research papers based on SHARE data. Submissions by colleagues at earlier stages of their scientific career are particularly encouraged. Papers or extended abstracts should be submitted to share-austria@jku.at by July 30, 2012. Authors of accepted papers will be notified by September 2, 2013.

Further information about the conference program, location and venue will be available online at www.share-austria.at as soon as possible.

There will be no conference fee, although travel and accommodation expenses have to be covered by the participants themselves. Financial support to students for covering part of their travel expenses can be granted on specific request.

For questions and further information please do not hesitate to contact the Austrian SHARE team under share-austria@jku.at.
